Canada at War

CFB TRENTON, Ont. (CP)

April 20, 2002

"The wail of a single bagpiper cut through the crisp spring air Saturday as the bodies of the first Canadian soldiers killed in a combat zone since the Korean War 50 years ago returned home.

Sgt. Marc Leger, 29, of Lancaster, Ont.;
Cpl. Ainsworth Dyer, 25,
of Montreal; Pte.
Richard Green, 22, of Mill Cove, N.S.; and
Pte. Nathan Smith, 27, of Tatamagouche, N.S.

The remains of the men, touched down in an Airbus CC-150 Polaris at the military base just before 11 a.m. EDT.

As the plane landed, a solemn party made up of a military guard of honour, a colour guard, family members and dignitaries walked onto the tarmac to accept the bodies.

The guard of honour for the simple ceremony was comprised of members of the Parachute Training Centre at the base.

The centre employs instructors from the same unit as the dead soldiers, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry."

All Canadians share a profound sadness for the families and for this tragic change in the state this world of ours is facing in the future.

The New Millennium

As the Legion moves into the 21st century, its members have rededicated themselves to ensure the care of Canada's veterans and the perpetuation of remembrance.

The implementation of the "Two Minute Wave of Silence" in 1999, and the establishment of "The Tomb of The Unknown Soldier" in 2000, are just two examples of how the Legion is preparing Canadians to never forget the lessons and sacrifices of the past.

Continued pressure on the federal government to improve benefits for those who have served the country in uniform is the Legion's other major corner stone. And, as times change, so will the needs and the Legion's work to ensure they are met.

Our Town . . . Has Braggin' Rights!

Canada is rated as one of the best countries in the world, and Lacombe is among the "top ten" communities in Canada!

Harrowsmith Country Life magazine selected Lacombe as one of the ten prettiest towns in Canada. The April (2002) edition of this magazine portrays Lacombe as, "a Prairie town whose past remains alive and whose future looks bright indeed."

Statistics

At the Hwy 2 Lacombe interchange, leave on the ramp to Hwy 12 West. Continue 2 km east to Centre Street and continue north for two blocks. The Legion Branch #79 is east on 52 Avenue.

- Population: 2001 - 9,252
- Municipal Status: Town
- County: Lacombe County #14
- School Division: Wolf Creek Regional Division
- Health Care Region: David Thompson Health Region
- Geographical Co-ordinates: Located in Central Alberta
- Latitude 52/28' and Longitude 111/54'
- Elevation: 853 Metres (2,806 feet)
- Distances from Major Centres: 118 km south of Edmonton
161 km north of Calgary
18 km north of Red Deer
- Major Transportation Arteries: East-West: Highway #12
North-South: Highway #2 and #2A
Railways: CP Rail
- Census Division: Alberta No. 8, Census of Canada
- Climatic Zone: Alberta 3A
- Geology: Very rich farmland, #1 soil to the East and West of Lacombe.
- Relatively long growing season conducive to market gardens and grain farming.
- Gravel and sand.
- There is oil in the entire county area.

In 1891, when the railroad came to Central Alberta, settlers rushed in the Lacombe area to develop homesteads.

Lacombe was incorporated as a village on July 28, 1896, and in 1902 as a town. At that time Lacombe was larger than Red Deer. In 1907, the Dominion Government chose the community as the site for an Agricultural Research Station.

Over the years the Lacombe Research Centre has made Lacombe world famous; the "Lacombe Hog" was developed here and the new meat packing plant is the most modern packing and research facility of its kind in Canada.

The provincial government, too, was a major contributor to the agricultural economy of Lacombe. The head office of the Insurance Division of Agriculture Financial Services Corporation, which oversees 53 offices throughout the province is located in Lacombe.

Alberta Agriculture Food and Rural Development, Field Crops Development Centre is located in the community with an office building in downtown Lacombe and research facilities south of the Town.

The petro-chemical industry expansion began in about 1970. Once more Lacombe was ideally located - just minutes south-east of town are five major petro-chemical plants employing hundreds of people.

Further expansion of the Nova Chemicals Joffre Plant and Union Carbide Prentiss Plant has been recently announced to take place over the next three years. Added to this will be a new linear alpha olefins plant to be developed by Amoco Canada.

And yet Lacombe has always remained a "small" town where one could still enjoy close community spirit and neighbourly friendships.

Lacombe was part of the very successful "Alberta Main Street" program. The objective: to reaffirm Lacombe's close link with its glorious history!

In many ways the history of Lacombe is the history of small-town Alberta: from trail-blazer to railwayman, to homesteader, to farmer and finally to the intricate inter-relationship between the present agricultural and industrial Albertan.
